

Week 2: Worship Beyond Music and Church Services & Offering

Everyday Life as Worship to God

Speaker: Madison Rhoten

I. Worship Continues Beyond the Church Walls.

- Worship follows us into our homes, workplaces, relationships, and daily spaces.
- Every moment is shaped by what our heart values most.
- Jesus teaches that worship is revealed in motives, not just visible actions. (Matthew 6:1)
- Worship continues in patience, grace, humility, and the way we carry ourselves.
- Worship is not tied to a place. It is tied to Jesus.

II. Worship in the Ordinary Moments

- God meets us in the everyday tasks: laundry, dishes, errands, caregiving, serving.
- Ordinary moments become worship when done with intention and gratitude. (Colossians 3:23)
- Flexibility, compassion, and slowing down for others are acts of worship.
- Stewarding love and grace in our daily routines honors God.
- Worship is choosing compassion over convenience.

III. The Daily Rhythm of Worship

- Every home has rhythms that reveal what we value.
- What we give attention to becomes what our heart chases.
- Daily worship is acknowledging God in all our ways. (Proverbs 3:6)
- Choosing the “one thing” again and again forms spiritual rhythm. (Psalm 27:4)
- Worship becomes who we are, not just what we do.

IV. Worship in the Hidden Places

- Hidden worship is quiet obedience, unseen patience, and private surrender.
- God meets us in the places no one else sees. (Psalm 139)
- Motives are purified, pride confronted, and love made genuine in hidden worship.
- Serving in our own strength exhausts us. Serving in His strength sustains us.
- Wilderness seasons refine us and prepare us for what we cannot yet see.
- Hidden worship is often the most honest worship we give God.

V. Worship Through Caring for Others

- Hospitality is worship expressed through love, humility, and service.
- Serving without seeking recognition reflects the heart of Jesus.
- Hospitality is not perfection. It is availability.
- Meeting needs, listening, and making room for others is worship.
- Caring for others becomes worship when the motive is love and the posture is humility.

VI. Faithfulness in Every Season

- Worship is carried into every season God entrusts to us.
- Time, gifts, and responsibilities become offerings when stewarded well.
- Faithfulness is built through quiet, steady choices over time. (Psalm 25:4–10)
- Returning to God again and again is worship.
- Long obedience, steady surrender, and lifelong offering honor God.

Week 2: Worship Beyond Music and Church Services & Offering
Everyday Life as Worship to God
Speaker: Madison Rhoten

- Worship is not just singing. It is the way we live day by day.
- God desires surrender, not perfection.
- Offering our life to God means choosing Him in ordinary, hidden, and difficult moments.
- Worship becomes steady, quiet, and intentional.
- "I delight to do Your will, O God." (Psalm 40:8)
- Worship is offering God not just our songs, but ourselves.

- What ordinary moment this week could become worship if you shifted your mindset?
- What part of your everyday life is hardest to see as worship and why?
- Can you think of a hidden season where God was shaping you even when you didn't see it?
- Where do you feel God inviting you to offer Him deeper surrender?
